

Workshop on the challenges of the labor market

The Deanship of Student Affairs at Al-Falah University in cooperation with the "Life Experts" organized a workshop on "Labor Market Challenges"

The workshop addressed the lack of employment opportunities available in most fields. Besides the lack of qualifications and skills available to young people in general. It also highlighted the need to link theoretical subjects with the labor market in order to bridge the gap between the learning outcomes of education and the demands of the labor market.
