

First Aid Workshop

The Deanship of Student Affairs at Al Falah University organized a workshop for the students on first aid entitled "Knowledge and Empowerment - Safety at its Best" in collaboration with the Center for Health and Safety Solutions.

The workshop showcased the importance of knowing first aid, the qualities a paramedic must have, the different types of first aid to administer during various emergencies, and how to provide emergency intervention when someone fainted, convulsed, or choked with a foreign object blocking the air canal and other life threatening situations.

One of the aims of the workshop is to raise awareness and improve the knowledge of students with regards to administering first aid to be prepared and well-equipped during emergencies.
